PROJECT ONE: XBOX ONE CONTROLLER

In this project I had to illustrate a controller or a phone in Adobe Illustrator CC. For my subject I chose my Xbox One controller. In this project I learned about perspective and lighting effects. Also, as my first Illustrator project I learned some basics with the drawing tools.

PROJECT TWO: INTERIOR DESIGN

For this Illustrator project I had to trace a photo of an interior design using the pen tool. I then had to color the photos with two different color schemes. I chose to do a monochromatic blue scheme for the first one and a light blue & orange complimentary scheme for the second. I learned different color schemes and mastery with the pen tool in this project.

PROJECT THREE: LOGO/BRANDING

For this project, I was assigned an imaginary restaurant to create an identity for. The restaurant I was assigned was called Ciao Mein, a blend of Asian and Italian cuisine. I had to create a logo, a business card, and a bus shelter advertisement for the make-believe establishment. In this project I learned how it would be to work with a client in a design studio and I also learned more about vector art.

PROJECT FOUR: WEB PAGE MOCK-UP

For this project I stepped into the shoes of a web designer and created the index for a website that I made up. This project started with a rough sketch and a creative brief. Then the ideas were turned to real life in Illustrator. An additional requirement for this project was to include an auto-trace image, which I did with the background. In this project I learned more about color palettes, typography, and how to create designs directed at a target audience.

PHOTOGRAPHY: SEDONA, ARIZONA

PHOTOGRAPHY: O'AHU, HAWAII

Taken in May of 2015, this panoramic shot shows off what the Hawaiian island of O'ahu has to offer. The photo was shot from the top of the rim of Diamond Head and shows off the Ko'olau Mountain Range in the background. The suburbs of Waikiki are seen in the background off to the left and the shoreline of Maunalua Bay are seen on the right side of the photo. In the foreground, you are looking into the extinct crater of Diamond Head.
